Senate Gets Housing Bill; Veto Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A billion-dollar housing bill threatened with a presidential veto was the Senate's problem today.

The house passed it Thursday, 214-163, a substantial vote still below the two-thirds that would be needed to override a veto by President Eisenhower.

Much of the debate was on partisan lines, foreshadowing efforts to make a presidential campaign issue of housing and mortgage costs.

Halleck Predicts Veto

Republican House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has predicted a veto, saying the bill will never become law in its present form.

Its major feature is authorization for the use of as much as one billion dollars to purchase at par mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration.

Proponents said this would increase the mortgage money supply, giving both home owners and building industry a break.

Opponents said there was no shortage of lending money. They contended only some builders and lenders would be helped by the legislation, while the government would be set back in its budget-balancing efforts.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) senior GOP member of the Senate Housing subcommittee, said the bill would be considered at hearings his group has scheduled to start May 9 on a huge general program.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

The House defeated 126-83 an amendment to deny benefits of the bill to housing subject to racial discrimination. No other major changes were proposed in the House.

Biblical Cities Believed Found

Remnants of Sodom, Gomorrah Under Sea

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Baptist missionary explorer believes he and three other American divers have found the wicked Biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah on the bottom of the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ralph E. Baney of Kansas City, Mo., in an interview Thursday night told of finding extensive underwater remnants of a civilization that flourished 4,000 years and then was inundated, apparently after an earthquake.

He said he and his divers found a levee 15 feet wide and 8 feet high under the waters of the inland sea between Jordan and Israel. The levee ran from a southwestern point of the Lisan Peninsula due west for two miles.

The levee, he continued, in Biblical times kept the salty waters of the sea from flowing into the fertile plains to the south. He believes an earthquake collapsed the levee, and the sea engulfed the plains behind it.

"We have located two cities under the Dead Sea water which are believed to be the two lost cities of Sodom and Gomorrah," Baney said. "One of these cities we have located in the Lisan Peninsula Bay. The other is due west of the northern point of the Lisan Peninsula."

The Bible says the Lord rained down fire and brimstone to destroy Sodom, Gomorrah, and the neighboring cities of Adama, Seboin and Bala (later called Segor) for the vices of their inhabitants. Angels led Abraham's nephew, Lot, his wife and two daughters out of Sodom to spare them, but Lot's wife looked back and was turned into a pillar of salt, according to the Bible story.

Baney has been exploring the sea bottom since early February with Viola Conway of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ryther of Kansas City, Kan.

Baney is executive director of the Christian Approach Mission, which runs an orphanage in Bethlehem.

Two Massillon Men Indicted By Grand Jury

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The Stark County Grand Jury has indicted August (Gus) X. Peters and Nick G. Peters of Massillon (5258 Lincoln Way East) on charges they have conducted a numbers operation for the past two years.

August Peters was the operator of the City Club, which was destroyed by fire last month. Police have been seeking an arsonist in the blaze. In August 1958 his auto was damaged by an explosion, and in March 1957 a partly detonated dynamite bomb was found outside his former residence.

The indictments were returned late Wednesday by the regular Stark County Grand Jury and the accused men were arrested Thursday.

A special grand jury which has been investigating gambling and rackets in the county is in a temporary recess. It has indicted a Massillon policeman and two operators of cigar stores on bribery charges.

Norman J. Putnam, Stark County prosecutor, said the numbers case against the two men was made possible by the efforts of James A. Bower, Massillon safety service director; Glenn Keller, Massillon police chief, and Richard Maier, solicitor for Massillon.

He said the numbers gambling operation had been operating through Wednesday. The indictments include six counts.

Turkish Student Riots Spread To Ankara

30 Persons Hurt As Mounted Police Charge Youths

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Student demonstrations against the strongman government of Premier Adnan Menderes spread to Ankara today. At least 30 persons were injured in a violent clash between university students and the police.

Spurred by the example of Korean students who led the successful revolt against President Syngman Rhee, some 10,000 students and others rioted Thursday in Istanbul, the nation's largest city. Unofficial reports said police fire killed four persons, but the military commander of Istanbul denied this.

Martial Law Proclaimed

Although martial law was proclaimed in both Istanbul and Ankara, 4,000 students singing Turkey's independence anthem assembled on the Ankara University grounds today to demonstrate in support of the Istanbul rioters.

Three hundred mounted police charged into the students as they started to march away from the university grounds, singing in praise of ex-President Ismet Inonu, the leader of Menderes' chief opposition.

In the melee that followed, 30 persons were hurt and all the windows in one wing of the university law building were smashed.

The students retreated into the building and threw pieces of broken window glass down on the mounted police.

Turkish Newsmen Arrested

Two Turkish newspaper photographers and a Turkish reporter were arrested as they covered the fracas.

Ankara's military commander appeared and appealed to the students to go home. The demonstrators booed him and stayed in the law building. The police then set up a cordon around the building, to keep the students from getting out to rally others to their support.

At least eight ambulances moved into the university grounds to pick up the injured.

Army troops also blocked off Inonu's home and the approaches to government buildings. All are located in one central area of Ankara, the nation's capital.

Negro Held for Inciting Riot

Slapped White Girl, Fought With Escort

By The Associated Press
A husky Negro who slapped a white girl's face after their cars brushed bumpers was in jail in Miami, Fla., today charged with nearly touching off a race riot.

More than 20 carloads of police armed with riot guns and tear gas rushed to the scene, where white and Negro neighborhoods meet, to disperse a crowd of 200 persons.

Police said the 200-pound Negro, Morgan Junior King, 25, slapped the face of Theresa Mahoney, 19, fought with her escort and then tried to flee from two unidentified white men leaped from another car and fired two shots at him. The white men sped off. Others in the crowd grabbed King.

King was charged with inciting a riot, reckless driving, vagrancy and aggravated assault.

A 63-year-old white minister campaigning against segregation on a Negro college campus at Marshall, Tex., was picked up and carried bodily to jail after he laid down on the grass to avoid accepting a warrant. He is the Rev. Ashton Jones of Los Angeles who travels the nation in a bus on which placards depict a white and a black hand clasped together.

In Nashville, Tenn., Charles Edward Wright, an 18-year-old Negro, was arrested for breach of peace on a charge by a 16-year-old white girl that he tried to date her. And three Negro students at Fisk University said four over-all-clad white men threatened them when they sought and were refused service at a bus terminal lunch room.

Proceedings Aimed at Ouster Of Union Chief

Hoffa's Attorneys To Appeal In Effort To Avoid Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph R. Jackson today ordered a trial beginning Tuesday of civil proceedings aimed to oust James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

Jackson denied a motion by Hoffa's attorneys that he throw out the proceedings.

Plan To Appeal

Hoffa's attorneys immediately announced that they would go to the U.S. Court of Appeals in a new attempt to avoid the trial. Other motions to forestall the trial already are pending for decision before the appeals court.

The proceedings against Hoffa are based on a contention that he misused union funds. They were brought by court-appointed monitors who contend Hoffa used some $600,000 of Detroit Local 299 Teamsters' funds in various personal business enterprises.

One enterprise was a Florida real estate development in which Hoffa originally had a 45 per cent option.

In arguing the proceedings should be thrown out, Hoffa's attorneys contended that the courts have no power to remove him and that this is a privilege entirely within the hands of the union members who had elected him.

Rules Against Contention

Judge Jackson ruled, however, that "it is the decision of the court that the monitors clearly acted within the scope of their authority."

Jackson heard arguments all day Thursday and for an hour more this morning on the issue.

A situation which gives a particular legal twist to Hoffa's case is the fact that he took the union office under a court consent decree issued in January 1958. That decree let Hoffa take office provisionally with a three-man monitor board appointed by the courts to supervise a corruption cleanup.

The consent decree, imposing specially strict obligations on Hoffa to safeguard union funds, resulted from the compromise of a Teamster member's lawsuit contending Hoffa had been elected to his Teamsters job in the fall of 1957 by a rigged convention.

Hoffa's only personal comment after Judge Jackson ordered him to trial Tuesday was: "We'll have to consult the lawyers on our next move."

Meanwhile, 52 ballots have been issued under the "Soldier Voting" law to armed forces personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States. The soldier ballots may be issued until noon Saturday and may be returned to the board as late as noon on election day.

'Red Light Bandit' to Die Monday Chessman Schedules 'Final' Talk With Attorneys Today

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman prepared for a "final talk" with two of his attorneys today on what more can be done to prevent his execution in the gas chamber, scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday.

The attorneys, A. L. Wirin and Rosalie Asher, got nowhere with a new plea to Gov. Edmund G. Brown in Sacramento Thursday. They will meet with Chessman at 1 p.m. today.

Brown told them that he stood firm on his statement of last Tuesday—that he is powerless to act unless there is some unexpected development of a critical nature. None is in sight.

Nevertheless, Wirin told reporters, "We are confident that when all the chips are down the governor will do the same thing he did last time." The last time was Feb. 19, when Brown granted Chessman a 60-day reprieve.

The governor said nothing to give him that impression, Wirin admitted.

Plans for the execution went ahead. Warden Fred Dickson of San Quentin said no visitors but attorneys of record for Chessman would be allowed on the prison grounds Sunday night, the eve of the execution. Newsmen had been admitted in the past.

The governor's office announced it would flash the word when the death-dealing cyanide pellets are dropped in the gas chamber. Newsmen at the viewing area in the prison aren't permitted to leave until the execution is over.

Chessman was sentenced to death in 1948 for kidnapping for robbery with bodily harm. He was convicted of being Los Angeles' "Red Light Bandit."

He has been on San Quentin's death row for nearly 12 years, successfully fighting off eight execution dates.

Polio Whirl Set At Beloit; Queen Will Be Crowned

BELOIT — Bill Ridenour of Radio Station WHLO will be disc jockey for the fifth annual Polio Record Whirl sponsored by the Beloit Polio Boys at Beloit School auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m.

A Polio Queen will be crowned at 10:30 p.m. with Miss Cora Lee Sickles, 1960 Chronicle Queen of Alliance High School, doing the honors. Miss Nancy Sigman of Alliance, 1959 Polio Queen, will MC the event.

Candidates for queen are Betty McBride, Janice Manypenny, Sylvia Snyder, Phyllis Russell, Elaine Dorsey and Bonnie Criss.

The Polio Boys started in 1954 when some neighborhood boys wanted to do something constructive during the summer. The first benefit that the group held was a small carnival. With the aid of a few mothers, they were able to sell refreshments.

Each year the benefit grew with a parade added to the festival. Then in 1956, the boys initiated a spring dance. When the group discontinued the festival in 1958, they continued having the annual record whirl.

In 1957, the boys decided to elect a Polio Queen. Miss Joan Criss received the honor; Miss Connie Weizenacker was elected in 1958.

and Miss Nancy Sigman in 1959. Although several of the boys have moved away and some have graduated from high school and have taken jobs of their own, there are still seven of the original group of eight boys who started in 1954. Two of the original group are recovered polio victims. The boys' efforts have netted $5,500 for the Polio Fund since 1954.

Five-Way Supreme Court Contest

Ohioans marking Republican ballots next Tuesday must choose among five candidates who want to make the November race against Democrat John W. Peck, appointed to the State Supreme Court when James Garfield Stewart died a year ago.

There is no race on the Democratic ballot for either this unexpired term or the two Supreme Court full terms expiring this year. Republicans are making a contest of only the unexpired term.

Two of the five Republicans are especially attractive — Willard D. Campbell and C. William O'Neill, the former Republican governor.

Mr. Campbell has been a frequent candidate for the Supreme Court. He has made the race five times, including a contest with Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt for top position in 1956, when he polled 1,210,377 votes, a most creditable total. Some of his other losing contests, like that one, were staged because he does not believe even a strong candidate for the Supreme Court should win without opposition.

Among Mr. Campbell's qualifications is the special distinction he won in 1953 when he finished the gargantuan task of directing the revision of the Ohio Code. He is a former prosecutor, former common pleas judge and a practicing lawyer. He is 59.

Former Gov. O'Neill has attractive qualifications, too. First and foremost, he had been a sure-fire winner in every vote contest until he lost the 1958 election for governor and can be assumed to have retained the knack. Second, he would be a bright prospect at the age of 44 to make long and distinguished record on the Ohio Supreme Court if he won a place this year.

It is probably that Mr. O'Neill, the best-known name, will attract the most votes and that Mr. Campbell, less widely known, will be hurt by the loss of votes to the other three names on the ballot — Elizabeth Bell Winter, Paul W. Brown and Richard Murray Stewart. With two particularly good candidates, it's a pity one of them must lose.

Uncontested in the primaries are James F. Bell, Democratic incumbent, and Earl R. Hoover, Republican, for the Supreme Court term beginning Jan. 1, and Kingsley A. Taft, Republican incumbent, and Joseph H. Ellison, Democrat, for the term beginning Jan. 2. Judicial candidates in Ohio, it must be remembered, are nominated as partisans, though they run in the November elections as nonpartisans.

'Long Live Blank!' In South Korea

Public opinion in this country is not as clear about the requirements for a democratic way of life in South Korea as the State Department seems to be.

Secretary Herter's rebuke to Syngman Rhee's government for "continuing public unrest and acts of violence" did not reflect a national attitude. Nor is there any strident demand here for President Rhee to turn his regime inside out and upside down to make its critics happy.

This does not signify there is a difference of opinion between the State Department and a man on Main St. It signifies only that a man on Main St., not having anything official at stake, unless he happens to have a relative serving with the American forces still stationed in Korea, can afford to take a wider view of government in South Korea.

He can afford to believe there isn't any democracy there; that President Rhee never could have saved his country with anything less than dictatorship; that the old man still knows the score and shouldn't be embarrassed by prattle about theory when he is dealing with clubs, knives and bullets in revolutionary hands.

THE HANDS may be upholding representative democracy in theory. But in practice they are tearing down the only strength South Korea has been able to count on since 1910, when Syngman Rhee began to hammer for independence. Rhee, himself, represents independence for Koreans.

When these people shout in the streets that Rhee's dictatorship is over and hooray for that, a skeptic must ask, "So what? What comes after Rhee's dictatorship?"

Chances are strong that someone will be dictating to South Korea for a long time to come, to keep it from knocking itself apart with civil disorder.

South Korea's famous old man—Rhee is 85—may have outlived his usefulness. But it is probable that if he went into exile again, as he did for 35 years while the Japanese were pistol-whipping his countrymen, they would wish they had Mr. Korean Independence back again.

THE UNITED STATES must protect its interest in South Korea. It cannot afford to let the back areas explode in revolution while its men hold the armistice line in mid-Korea. It must be against violence and for peace. It must even be against Syngman Rhee if that will appease hot-heads stirring up trouble. The United States can't win this kind of rigged shake—and a glance at the calendar confirms that rigging is likely. President Eisenhower is scheduled to visit Seoul late in June. It will take a political miracle to get things under control by June. The United States will lose face if its President's scheduled visit cannot be paid because its political protegee has been shattered.

The Kremlin said the revolt in Hungary in 1956 was stimulated by the United States. The Kremlin never lets the world forget for long that it can turn revolutions off and on at will and would be glad to take credit for the one in Korea, if credit is bestowed, as it undoubtedly will be in the near future.

O'Brian purposely makes Earp a glamor guy but Wyatt by all records, was a taciturn, homespun, non-theatrical type. So its okay with us as long as the State Department doesn't cast Mickey Rooney as Doc Holiday, Pat Boone as Buffalo Bill and Jack E. Leonard as Gen. Custer.

The Associated Newspapers

Notice the Upholstery, Friend!

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

I have a contribution to the collection of private papers which some day will tell the full story of the 1960 presidential campaign.

It's a letter I received the other morning from the vice president of the United States. Excerpts from it reveal a side of Richard Nixon which frequently come across to the public: "As you probably noted, I wrote on April 19, 'I had a meeting in my office recently, which was arranged by Jim Mitchell, with David Dubinsky, Jacob Potofsky and Alex Rose.

They came in to urge support of raising the minimum wage and extending the coverage of the wage-hour act. They also expressed concern over foreign competition of goods produced by cheap labor. While they do not recommend a change in our reciprocal trade policy, they do feel that the administration should do everything possible to get other countries to impose voluntary quotas upon such products so as to avoid building up pressure for raising tariffs on our part."

SO MUCH for the official business at hand brought to Nixon by men of whom it could be said they literally helped create Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal. The letter from the vice president then continued:

"The meeting was cordial and friendly in tone. As we were breaking up, they informed me that they had seen other potential candidates for president who are members of the Senate.

"I replied by pointing out that I was the only one of the potential candidates to whom they have talked that would not receive their support! But I went on to say that even though I was well aware of this fact that I thought it was essential for anyone who might be president of the United States to maintain communication on a friendly basis with men who represented such a large and significant part of our population," Nixon wrote.

"As I told Jim Mitchell afterwards, I did not intend or expect the meeting with them to change their attitude toward me politically.

"But Jim thought it was worthwhile for them to see that I didn't wear horns!

"With every good wish, Sincerely, Dick Nixon."

Seldom in a non-smoke filled room has there been a more compact gathering of realists. The vice president smiled when he talked of their politics. The others grinned friendly-like. One of the labor leaders then said feelingly:

"Mr. Vice President, you are right. We will support your opponent. But we do want to say that we are pleased with what happened here. We respect you, indeed, for the eminent fairness in your attitude towards the problems we raised in our discussions."

I pass on this quote as I got it from one of the visitors after he had been released from the implied promise to keep the discussion off the record.

OFFICIALLY, Nixon will hear of labor's support of the Democratic ticket sometime late on the afternoon of Aug. 17. Two days earlier, the AFL-CIO's executive council will meet in Chicago.

They will examine all the records of both conventions. They will then recommend endorsement of the Democratic party's candidate. This decision will go to the "general board," a group made up of the presidents of all AFL-CIO national unions. They'll gather on Aug. 17.

For the moment, however, the big story here is not political. It is rather that there can be such a give and take as there was between Dick Nixon and the New Deal labor leaders.

Both know what each other desires; both sides are aware of each other's position; both agree to disagree with the warmth of a handshake.

That's what makes this land of ours strong. Should any outsider test that strength, both sides would swiftly blend into a unified one.

Precedent In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. Exerted Pressure to Oust Rhee

When is a problem "internal" and when is it "external"?

Governments, including our own, have long reserved the right to determine the answer to that question for themselves when their own affairs are concerned and they have resented any outside interference or dictation.

What has happened in Korea presents a paradox in the history of international affairs.

President Eisenhower told his press conference on Wednesday that the United States had not intervened in Korean governmental matters.

He said: "To charge America with interference in the internal affairs of Korea is not correct. . . . No interference of any kind was ever undertaken by the United States and we had no part in inciting or know anything about the inciting of this difficulty."

But the President also said that he had previously expressed through the State Department directly to the Korean government the hope that the irregularities in connection with the recent election in Korea "could be stopped."

This, as Mr. Eisenhower himself remarked, was published. All the Korean newspapers, to be sure, printed it with large headlines.

Whether the State Department considers that its advice given at a critical moment in the history of the Korean republic was or was not "intervention," the fact remains that the Korean people were publicly advised through the press that the Washington government and the Rhee government were, in effect, parting company and that a "reprimand," as some of the newspapers called it, had been administered to the Korean government by the American government.

DISSENT FACTIONS, of course, needed no further stimulus. They knew the American government had spoken.

Even in the last 48 hours, the Department of State went a step further. It summoned the diplomatic representatives here of the 13 countries allied with the United States under U.N. auspices in the last Korean war and told them about the situation.

The State Department didn't keep this in the confidential realm of diplomacy. Instead, a formal communique was issued to the press after the meeting, which said:

"Those present joined in expressing the hope that there would be an early resolution of the situation in a manner which would permit the orderly functioning of democratic government in the Republic of Korea.

Coincident with this, newspaper dispatches from Seoul related that the American ambassador there was putting heavy pressure on President Rhee to resign.

The Korean public needed no further word of encouragement to carry on bigger and bigger street demonstrations, some of which got out of hand and spread from Seoul to other cities of South Korea.

Whatever the eventual outcome of the disorders, the fact remains that America exerted pressure to secure a change of regime. It helped to force President Rhee out of office. The purpose, it is argued, was, of course, benevolent—that the end justified the means.

This, however, is precisely the argument that has been used again and again in other acts of intervention.

In meeting criticism of Soviet intervention in Hungary, for example, the Moscow authorities said they just had to send troops in 1954 to preserve order and stop the rioting.

THE UNITED STATES, in participating in the internal affairs of Korea, now has set a precedent. The point has been made that this is logical because Korea owes its independence to the sacrifices made by American troops, along with those of other nations, in the war to repel Communist aggression between 1950 and 1953.

After the Korean republic was set up in 1948 by elections held under U.N. auspices, the official view was widely expressed that Korea became free and independent and constituted an example of what happens in the free world. Maybe self-governing nations now will be subject to monitoring by other governments.

There is as yet no uniformity of application. In France, for instance, a serious violation of the French Constitution has been pointed up. An opposition party in the French Parliament has just signed a motion of censure which states:

"The refusal (by President De Gaulle) to hold an extraordinary session, called for by a majority of the members of the National Assembly . . . constitutes a violation of the French Constitution and constitutes a precedent in virtue of which for more than half the year the government would have the power, whatever the seriousness of the measures it adopted, to elude control by the elected representatives of the nation."

Not long ago 200,000 farmers in France demonstrated in protest on this same point. Yet President De Gaulle is welcomed as a hero in America and not a word is said by the Department of State concerning the "irregularities" in the French Parliament, where the Constitution of France is being plainly violated. Doesn't the Korean precedent now justify a "word of warning" to President De Gaulle, too?

Wrong About Cats

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — When a man's wrong, he might as well admit it.

And I can't think of a better time than the eve of National Be-Kind-to-Animals Week to confess that all my life I have been wrong about cats.

When it comes to pets, most folks divide into "dog people" and "cat people." If they keep a dog, they usually don't keep a cat—and don't like cats. If they keep a cat, they usually don't keep a dog—and don't like dogs.

It is only human to be suspicious of anything we don't know well. And that probably explains why in the past most Americans have preferred dogs and been distrustful of cats.

That's the way I felt until Lady Dottie joined our household as a kitten a year and a half ago. She was black and white and had a black dot on the tip of the nose. Strictly alley cat. No more, no less.

As a life-long dog owner, I would have bet Lady Dottie wouldn't last out the month in our home. But now she owns us and everything in it.

At first I would have nothing to do with her, and she showed an equal lack of ardor toward me. As we got more used to each other, however, I learned a basic difference between dogs and cats. A dog tends to be everybody's pal; he wants the world to like him. But a cat selects her own society, and doesn't worry about public opinion.

Our cat has at least two distinct personalities. By day she is a sleek, fluffy-footed Grover Whalen, greeting visitors with all the dignity and calm of an ancient Chinese mandarin.

But at night she roams the house like a dozen clumsy burglars, pushing over wastebaskets, tumbling books from the shelves, knocking expensive table lamps to the floor. The furniture she breaks costs more than the food she eats.

The charge that cats, unlike dogs, don't have a sense of gratitude isn't really true. Lady Dottie knows how to say "thank you." She just doesn't believe it's necessary to shout her gratitude out loud—as a dog does.

Just when I quit disliking Lady Dottie and became her servant I don't know. Cats have an invisible way of inflicting their sense of ownership over you.

And sooner or later they'll probably own the country. They are gaining a steady victory over their old enemy, the dog.

The last pet census showed Americans have 28 million cats, only 26 million dogs. Rover has met his master.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The other afternoon I was at home with a bad cold. The census taker came to the door and my wife asked him in. I heard their conversation from the next room. It was all I could do to stay in bed and keep out of it.

My wife told him one lie after the other. He asked her age and she blithely knocked off four years. She told him we have four children. We have two. She lied about my occupation (said I was an attorney).

After the man left I asked her why she did it. Her answer was, "I hate people who ask personal questions. This is a free country and I don't have to answer if I don't want to."

Was my wife obliged to give the correct answers to the census taker or was it okay to have a little fun?—CLYDE

Dear Clyde: The penalty for refusing to answer census questions is a $100 fine or 60 days in jail, or both. Any person who willfully gives false information can be fined $500, give a year in jail, or both.

Tell your wife she may not have heard the end of this. It's not smart to play Truth or Consequences with representatives of the federal government. The questions asked by the census taker are for the official record and it is essential that they get correct information.

Teener's Tribulations

Dear Ann: My sister and I both have 16-year-old daughters. Rita, my sister's daughter, is permitted to get herself up like a vamp. She wears her mother's clothes which are much too old for her, smokes and has been dating since she was 13.

Last night they were all here for dinner. My husband fixed drinks for the crowd. Rita asked for a Scotch on the rocks. My husband said, "You're kidding." Rita replied, "Oh yeah? Ask my mother. She's here." When her mother okayed the drink I almost collapsed.

My Ellen then wanted a Scotch. I said, "Nothing doing." She felt humiliated and I could see the hurt look in her eyes.

Rita had two drinks and became loud and boisterous. After they left Ellen cried and said we had made her look like a baby. We had a bug ruckus which solved nothing. What should I have said to her?—INEPT MOTHER.

Dear Mother: The battle slogan for modern teen-agers is, "Everybody else is doing it." This is the answer:

"You are OUR child and OUR responsibility. We love you and are going to do everything possible to see that you get off to a good start in life. We don't care what other parents decide is best for their kids. In our home WE make the decisions. Nobody can get standards for us."

Old Rope Trick

Dear Ann: I'm no letter writer, so please have patience. I met this girl at the plant where I work. She's married, has two kids and is unhappy at home. She says the kids drive her nuts and her husband is a lemon.

We've had a few long talks (no dates) and she's made it plain she could go for me in a big way, right fascinating. She said her husband I find her exciting; in fact, down-band would give her a divorce if she'd let him have the kids. (And she would.)

I'm 31, nobody's fool and I know the ropes. Could it work?—LYLE.

Dear Lyle: What good is knowing the ropes if you wind up getting hanged? "A married woman is off limits. Shorten those talks to 'hello' and 'good-bye.'"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Book Sale Benefit Planned AAUW Told of Education;

Final plans for the used book and record sale were made at the meeting of the Salem Branch of American Association of University Women Tuesday evening at the YWCA.

The sale will be held May 5 from 3 to 5:30 p.m., May 6 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and May 7 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Lincoln Ave. entrance of the Arbaugh furniture store.

Many of the books for sale will include children's readers, music books and science books on the elementary level. A special collection of old geographies will be sold as a group.

Mrs. Walter Strain is chairman of the project, with Mrs. Robert Davis and Mrs. Arthur Vaughan as co-chairmen. Other committee members are Mrs. Wade Loop, Miss Lois Lehman, Miss Helen Thorpe and Mrs. Thomas Starkey. Mrs. Richard Cook presided at the business meeting and welcomed Mrs. J. R. Stratton as a guest.

Elected to the office of vice president and treasurer for two years were Mrs. Strain and Mrs. Ralph Dressel, respectively.

The speaker, Mrs. Paul Hum, school psychologist for the Salem Public Schools, was presented by the higher education committee, with Miss Ala Zimmerman as the chairman.

Takes Look Into Future

Mrs. Hum spoke on "What Education for Whom?" She stated that the 60's are a decade in which no one of us will live our life in this world alone — the age of space travel is here. Adults as well as students must learn to adjust to this rapidly changing environment. In educating himself, the pupil must prepare for more than one career, she said.

"Flexibility will be the touch-

Stone of all education and we must learn to take advantage of the changes in our lives," she declared.

"The 50's were characteristic of the population explosion and we find ourselves in the 60's with a greatly changed population and a working force picture. The dependent population is much larger as more babies are born and people live longer.

"This will mean in a few years, girls will be forced to remain in the work market for longer periods. The marriage age should rise and a greater percentage of women over 50 will be employed," Mrs. Hum continued. Approximately 50 per cent of our work force will be between 14-25 years of age and will be heavily weighted with part-time workers.

"There will be a much greater demand for a white collar worker than a blue collar worker," Mrs. Hum stated that the schools must respond to this situation with a vertical and lateral education. Vertical education refers to the typical setup which must teach basic skills at the primary level and sec-

"Lateral expansion would require teaching any subject or skill to any one in any amount he desires at any period in his lifetime. Educators believe we must come up to date with ideas we already have and to which we pay lip service.

"In the 60's we must decide if we will continue to worship mediocrity or will we pursue excellence or re-assess our moral and spiritual values," she concluded.

A book review, "The History of AAUW," will be given by Mrs. Vaughan at the May 24 meeting.

Social hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Davis and Miss Edith Forbes.

Honored At Hiram

Miss Barbara Cobourn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll F. Cobourn of Coraopolis, Pa., formerly of Salem, was accepted today into membership in Alpha Society, the scholastic honors unit for juniors and seniors at Hiram College.

Honorary life memberships will go to Prof. Francis R. Aumann and Prof. Harvey Walker of Ohio State University and Dr. Frank M. Setzler of the United States National Museum, Washington, D. C. Dr. John A. Krout, vice president of Columbia University, will speak at tonight's banquet.

2 Small Boys Found Abandoned; Search Waged for Baby

HAHIRA, Ga. (AP) — Search resumed today for an infant reported to have been seen with two little boys found abandoned in a briar patch not far from busy U. S. Highway 41 near this small south Georgia town.

The latest development in the strange case sent police and more than 100 persons tramping through the swamps and woods half a mile north of Hahira Thursday night. However, no trace of a baby was found in the thick undergrowth.

The report of an infant came from John Ruth, a Negro yard man who said he was about 10 feet from the children Tuesday afternoon and that the older boy was carrying a baby.

Ruth explained he didn't say anything about it at the time because he thought their parents were fishing nearby.

The boys were found dirty, hungry and crying in the briar patch Wednesday night by Mrs. Grady Darby after she heard whimpering noises near her home.

The older boy identified himself as Tommy, 4, and his brother as Johnny, 2.

The lads didn't know their last names, the names of their parents, or where they came from. Investigators said there were no laundry marks, tags, or other means of identification on their clothing and that they had absolutely no clues as to who they were.

Tornadoes Injure 31 In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Tornadoes churned straight as a string down a 50 mile stretch of central Oklahoma Thursday night, destroying or damaging dozens of homes and causing at least 31 injuries.

One death was attributed indirectly to the twisters which were first spotted over Anadarko before sundown and last reported over Oklahoma City. Loyde Walters an Oklahoma City man, died early today of a heart attack he suffered when his house was damaged by the storm.

The sprawling Oklahoma capital city was hardest hit. "It's impossible to make an estimate of damage at this time," said City Manager Sheldon Stirling early today. "Right now we are most thankful there were no deaths."

Most of the damage here was from roofs torn from buildings and homes by the twister, which apparently passed over at rooftop level. Two homes were destroyed and trailers in a trailer court overturned.

In the tiny farm community of Pocasset, 50 miles southwest of here, two homes were flattened by a tornado and two others heavily damaged.

At Tuttle, 10 miles northeast of Pocasset, a twister clipped a side off the high school gym, wrecked a cotton gin, a school bus garage and three houses.

American Flier Sentenced to Death

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Al-lan Lawrence Pope, American flier of fortune, today was sentenced to death for fighting against the government in Indonesia's 1958 rebellion.

An Indonesian air force judge convicted the 31-year-old pilot from Miami, Fla., of carrying arms for the rebels, killing 17 members of Indonesia's armed forces and flying bombing and strafing missions in the uprising against President Sukarno.

Pope showed no emotion as Lt.

Col. Sardjono, the judge, pronounced the death sentence.

The judge gave him a week to accept the verdict or appeal to a higher court. If the flier accepts the verdict, the judge may ask Sukarno for a pardon.

Pope admitted flying for the rebels but insisted he flew only one attack mission — "The others were test and patrol flights."

Pope's World War II B26 bomber was shot down near the government-held port of Ambon on May 18, 1958, at the height of the revolt. He bailed out, injured his right leg on landing and was captured.

Defense Budget Boosted $3 Million By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee revised many sections of President Eisenhower's 1961 defense budget today in a $39,337,867,000 bill to finance the Defense Department for the year starting July 1.

Adding here and cutting there, the committee came up with a total $129,167,000 more than Eisenhower had requested in a revised program submitted in March, but only $2,867,000 more than he sought in the January budget message.

The committee voted extra money for more attack and Polaris submarines, more National Guard and reserve forces, a greater aircraft capacity, more fighter planes to replace trouble-plagued Bomarc missiles, and an expanded airborne alert capability.

The $129,167,000 added by the committee to presidential requests was largely offset by reductions totaling $1,407,800,000. Larger cuts included a 400 million-dollar slash in general procurement funds to force "more economical practices," denial of 293 million sought for a new conventional supercarrier, 294 million cut from the Bomarc program, and a reduction of about 10 per cent in civilian payrolls.

In a 79 page explanation of its action written by Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), the committee said "better defense for the dollars expended" should be the result of the budget shake-up.

Pirates Trip Phillies 3-0 To Extend Win String To Seven

Friend Hurl's 2nd Shutout

Giants Score 7-5 Win Over Dodgers

By The Associated Press The Pittsburgh Pirates have made it seven, extending the season's longest winning streak behind Bob Friend, the missing winner of last year's failure. The right-hander who lost his first seven and wound up the biggest loser (8-19) in the National League when the Bucs flopped to fourth last season, pitched his second four-hit shutout and won his third without defeat Thursday as the Pirates beat Philadelphia 3-0.

The big outfielder was struck behind the right ear by shortstop Maury Wills' peg to first on an attempted double play. Cepeda was carried off on a stretcher, but X-rays showed no fracture. In the American League, Kansas City handed Detroit a third straight loss, 2-1 on the four-hit pitching of ex-Pittsburgh right-hander Dick Hall. The defeat slipped Detroit into a tie for first with idle New York. Chicago's White Sox defeated Cleveland 3-1, and Baltimore ripped Boston 6-1.

Friend, 29, struck out seven in the first three innings at Philadelphia. He wound up with 11, just one shy of the Pirate record set by Babe Adams in 1909, for a total of 32 in his 34 innings.

The Bucs got to work on loser John Buzhardt (0-2) with two runs in the second on Dick Stuart's triple, Bob Clemente's single and an infield out. Singles by Don Hoak and Dick Groat and a sacrifice fly by Bob Skinner got the other run home in the fifth.

Willie McCovey took care of things for the Giants, walloping a clinching three-run homer that capped a four-run rally with two out in the eighth. It was the fifth of the year for Willie, who drove in four runs for a league-leading total of 17 despite a .222 batting average.

Right-hander Jack Sanford (2-0) was the winner, but needed help from Billy Loes, Stu Miller and finally Mike McCormick.

Larry Sherry, the Word Series pitching hero as a reliever, was the loser for a 1-3 record in his third start.

The game took 3 hours, 35 minutes, just 3 minutes shy of the National League record for a nine-inning night game set by the Phils and Dodgers at Los Angeles last May 11.

Stuebenville High Grid Coach Fired

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Harold Paul, 34, president of the Ohio High School Football Assn., was fired today as coach at Steubenville High School.

The board of education by a 4-1 vote rejected a renewal of a contract by Paul, whose "Big Red" football team won eight games and lost to only Massillon and Warren last season.

Rejection of the contract was not connected with Paul's performance as football coach but was done on a recommendation by Supt. C. C. Roberson who cited strained relations between Paul and high school principal George Bates.

Paul, who taught history in addition to coaching was not cooperative, Roberson told the board. "I've done the best possible job I can in Steubenville," commented Paul. He said he had told the board that if it did not think he had done a good job it should not renew his contract.

A Cleveland native and a graduate of Miami University at Oxford, where he played end under Woody Hayes, Paul has been coaching 10 years.

He started in Hamilton as an assistant coach and subsequently spent two years at Louisville in Stark County. He coached at Wyoming, a Cincinnati suburb, for two years before he came here where his teams have won 22 and lost 19 over four years.

Tampa, Fla. — Ray Portilla, 145, Houston, stopped Larry Boardman, 140½, Clearwater, Fla.

Learn the distances you seem to be able to get with each of the long irons.

The iron for you when you have a shot of 150 yards is the one with which you can obtain that distance without disrupting the flow of the swing.

One of the more understandable mistakes the body can make is to "raise" into the backswing. Let's see how the right knee protects the balance and form of the back and downswing. When the club is headed upward into the backswing, the right knee remains flexed and pointed straight ahead.

Almost at the top of the backswing, when it absorbs the shifting of the weight and the tendency of the hips and shoulders to turn against it, the right knee remains pointed straight ahead. With everything turned into the backswing at the top, the right knee still resists the strong urge to straighten and turn, too, toward the right.

Does the right knee finally break as a result of the easing of pressure? It does not. It "says" against the urge to turn.

The right knee finally begins to move in toward the center of the swing just after impact in order to allow the right side to participate fully in the pivot.

The flex and position of the right knee absorbs the weight and tensions of the backswing, then resists the tendency to collapse into the downswing before the hips lead the way.

Hunter to Start At Guard Slot

Ohio, Pennsylvania All-Stars to Meet

Warren Harding Coach Dick Boyd said today he plans to start Salem's Dave Hunter at a guard position for the Eastern Ohio All-Stars when they meet the Western Pennsylvania All-Stars in the Farrell, Pa., gym Saturday.

Other starters for the Ohio quintet will be Nick Novosel of Hubbard, Gene Lane of Cleveland East Tech, Al Payne of Cleveland Cathedral Latin, and John Namciu of Canton Timken.

Also slated to see action for the Ohio team are Nick Milasovich, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson; Bruce Osborne, Youngstown Chaney; Jack Moore, Youngstown Ursuline; Jack Currington, Warren; Bill Leonard, Niles; Denny McCormick, Girard; and Fred Berneck, Vienna.

Midland's George Hamilton will coach the Pennsylvania squad. His club will be headed by two all-state players from Farrell — Brian Generalovich, 6-4, and Willie Somerset, 5-9.

Movie Smith of Midland, Dick Allen of Wampum, Bucky Ferguson of Sharon and Cal Sheffield of New Brighton are among the other outstanding cagers who will be performing for the Pennsylvanians.

The Keystone squad will be out to avenge a pair of defeats pinned on them last year. The Ohioans won the first game played at Farrell, 73-55, and really poured it on, 91-69, in the second game at Salem.

The all-star game Saturday night will conclude an all-day basketball clinic which will feature Fred Schaus of West Virginia University and Dudley Moore of LaSalle College. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Earle Bruce's decision to resign as football coach at Salem comes more as a disappointment than a surprise to most local observers.

Bruce never tried to hide the fact that if a job opportunity came along at a school offering substantially more money and displaying a willingness to support a strong football program, he was ready to jump.

The Sandusky coaching position apparently fulfills both of these demands so Salem is losing an outstanding coach and person.

Bruce's record at Salem speaks for itself. In his four-year stay here, he put this city back on the football map of Ohio. He succeeded in instilling some of his own abundant supply of aggressiveness in his players, and it paid off in winning football.

He was quick to "chew out" a player when he thought it necessary, but the coach was never guilty of degrading one of his men. For this he was respected.

With Bruce's talent and ambition there's no reason to believe that Sandusky can hold him any longer than Salem did. The Scotchman has his sights set on a college post. It's only a matter of time.

BRUCE ADMITS that he hates to leave Salem. "When my wife and I first came here," the coach remarked, "We found the people hard to get acquainted with, and we frankly didn't care much for the place. "As time went on though, we grew to love both the people and the town. Now my wife hates to leave and so do I. Believe me, I'll always have a warm spot in my heart for the Quakers."

Bruce has turned down lucrative offers in recent months, including the head coaching job at Findlay. However, as the coach explained, the Sandusky offer was too good to turn down.

SANDUSKY, which plays in the rugged Buckeye Conference, posted a 6-3 record last year, losing to three big teams, Lorain, Elyria, and Marion. It reportedly has much of its 1959 football talent returning this fall.

Bruce feels that with its football program, Sandusky can compete on a high level year in and year out whereas Salem, without solid program below the high school level, will have more drastic up and down seasons.

The coach did remark that he believes the teams he had here the past three years could compete successfully with any in the Buckeye Conference.

"I don't think anyone can ever count out the Salem athletes," he commented. "They have tremendous desire — guts, if you want to call it that."

BRUCE POINTED out three examples of this display of desire which gave him his greatest thrills while coaching here. One was the 1958 game with Youngstown East when the Quakers rallied from an 18-0 halftime deficit to upset the highly regarded Bears, 19-18.

Another was the 41-6 smashing of East Palestine in 1957. The previous year, Bruce's first here, the Bulldogs had plastered Salem by the same score.

Bruce's third thrill came last year when the Quakers recorded a 20-0 victory over East Liverpool, a team which had upset Warren Harding earlier in the season and was ranked seventh in the state by the Associated Press.

IF THE ATHLETIC board follows Supt. Paul Smith's suggestion that first consideration in hiring a new coach should go to someone locally, then Bruce's backfield coach for the past three seasons, Blaine Morton, looks like the likely successor here.

There's no doubt but what Morton will get Bruce's highest recommendation. Bruce has called Morton the best high school backfield coach in the state.

If the board reaches a decision on a coach quickly, Morton will probably be Salem's next head coach. If the decision is dragged out, you can almost be sure that someone is holding out for a "bigger name."

HAL PAUL, Steubenville's head coach who was fired yesterday, will see his name tied up with the Salem post. He and Bruce, along with Ben Wilson, were the three final candidates for the Warren Harding head post which eventually went to Wilson.

However, Paul was fired at Steubenville because he couldn't get along with the administration. That leaves him hanging out in the cold as far as Salem is concerned.

Whoever succeeds Bruce here could be in for a rough time. The up and down cycle in Salem football fortunes that Bruce mentioned as just about gone as high as it is going to get. A noisy nosedive appears to be about one year away.

Hunter, Klein Honored At Western Reserve

Two former Salem High athletes, Dick Hunter and Matt Klein, were honored this week at the annual Western Reserve University Spring Sports Banquet.

Basketball Coach Frank Speck announced that two records were established during the 1959-1960 season. Hunter broke Dick Howard's 1954 free throw percentage record (77.0), compiling an outstanding 81.3 percentage. Klein set a new field goal percentage record when he hit on 48.3 per cent of his shots.

Terry Wenger and Klein were named co-captains for the 1960-61 season.

Hunter was also honored for his election to the All-Presidents' Atletic Conference team for the second consecutive year. This climaxed three fine basketball seasons for the Salem cager who tallied 939 points during his collegiate career.

1,041 to Vie In Relays Saturday

74 High Schools To Be Represented

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Practically all the state's highly touted track and field talent will battle it out here Saturday in Ohio Wesleyan University's 29th annual high school team relays.

The unique event, in which squad depth instead of individual brilliance pays off, will feature 1,041 youngsters from 74 schools in a 24-event program.

Both defending state champions, Cleveland Glenview in Class AA and West Alexandria in Class A, will be on hand. So will Springfield's Wildcats, winner of the Class AA Delaware classic the last four years and nine of the last 13 Chagrin Falls, winner of the 1959 Class A crown, is hosting its own relay meet and will miss the event.

The field, with some late entries expected, has 560 boys from 34 Class AA schools, and 481 from 40 Class A institutions.

Cleveland Glenview, convincing victor in the Mansfield Relays two weeks ago, is favored to take the Delaware crown. But the Tar-blooders face formidable foes in Cleveland East Tech, a seven-time victor, and Cleveland St. Joseph. The latter has upset both Glenview and East Tech in dual meets.

Springfield, with field event strength and an easy winner in its own relay meet last week, is given an outside chance.

The Wesleyan event is odd in that all races are relays, and all

Ohio Fishing During Past Week Reported Best on Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fishing in northeastern Ohio during the past week has been probably the best of any time on record, the Ohio Division of Wildlife reported today.

The division said that fishing throughout the state is good and fishermen have been catching almost every kind of fish in tremendous numbers.

The following conditions exist in Ohio.

NORTHWESTERN — Most areas waters in fair to good fishing condition, fish of all species being taken. At Oxbow Lake, Defiance County, bass, bluegills, crappies and northern pike being caught. Fishing at Grand Lake St. Marys fair to good, with crappies and catfish the main species taken.

NORTHEASTERN — To name any "best" spot in this district would be impossible. All lakes producing almost fabulous catches of all kinds of fish. Fishing pressure has been extremely heavy on weekends but this bothered neither fish nor fishermen. It is expected that this condition should continue for several weeks.

EAST CENTRAL & SOUTH-EASTERN — Almost perfect fishing conditions in lakes and streams. Bass, bluegills, bullheads, carp, suckers, and some northern pike and muskies, beginning to show up on strings. The northern pike were reported taken from Muskingum County, while the muskies were caught in Belmont Lake, Belmont County. Area lakes which have been producing well include: Piedmont, Belmont County; Atwood and Leesville Lakes, Carroll; Seneca, Clendenen and Tappan; Seneca, Clendenen and Tappan; Seneca, Clendenen and Tappan; Seneca, Clendenen and Tappan.

CENTRAL & SOUTHERN — Due to lack of rain, most streams rather low and clear. Lakes also in almost perfect fishing condition and angling has been good. Bass, bluegills, crappies, catfish, carp and suckers being taken in large numbers. Some walleyes have been taken during the past week at Hoover Reservoir; bass and crappies also biting well. Some other good spots include: Delaware Reservoir, Delaware County; Buckeye Lake, Fairfield; Rocky Fork Lake, Highland; Jackson Lake, Jackson and Pike Lake, Pike County.

Salem Frosh Win; 7th, 8th Graders Lose

Salem's 9th grade track squad chalked up an easy victory but the local 7th and 8th grades took drubbings in a junior high meet with East Palestine Wednesday at Reilly Stadium.

Coach Jerry Martin's Salem 9th graders won 67-33. The seventh and eighth graders were broken down by weights with 110-pounds being the dividing line. The East Palestine and the Bulldogs lightweights came out on top 48-29.

Jerry Crookston and Dave Taus were both double winners for the Salem 9th grade. Crookston set a new 9th grade record by running the 100-yard dash in 11.1.

Two other Salem records were set Wednesday but the marks were only good enough for second places against Coach Howard Parker's Bulldogs. Dave Capel's discuss throw of 99-4 shattered the old mark of 96-0. Bob Hassan ran the half mile in 2:20.1, knocking four seconds off the old standard.

Last year was the first year 9th grade records were kept here. Bush won both the shot put and discus to lead the East Palestine 9th grade Wednesday.

Hilton Moffett was a bright spot for the Salem lightweights, winning the shot put and broad jump.

East Palestine's Wayne Booth was a one man show in the heavyweight class. He won the 120-yard low hurdles, the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and tied for first in the high jump.

Jim Anderson won the shot put for Salem and Dan Franks tied Vince Allcorn of East Palestine for first in the pole vault.

TAX COLLECTIONS UP

CLEVELAND (AP)—Income tax collections in the 22 counties of the Cleveland Internal Revenue Service district amounted to $1,049,809.429 from Jan. 1 through Thursday, Melvin J. Burton, district director, said the figure was larger than last year's although a drop had been expected because of the 1959 steel strike. Last year's collections totaled $908,689,294.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Pituitary Regulates Body's Main Functions

If you visit the "freaks" when the circus comes your way, you'll have a chance to learn something at first hand about the most powerful gland you possess. It's called the pituitary (pit-two-it-airy) and it is no larger than a large raisin.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

The pituitary is situated just back of the bridge of your nose in its own compartment at the base of the skull.

IF I WERE to show you a pituitary gland, you'd find it hard to believe that a disturbance of this tiny structure was all that was wrong with circus giants, dwarfs, fat men, bearded ladies and human skeletons.

But that's the simple truth and I'll try to explain how this comes about.

The pituitary acts as a sort of controlling mechanism for almost every important activity of the body.

The freaks, for example, illustrate the importance of the pituitary in the regulation of height and weight.

THE DWARF who looks like a little old man is a fellow whose pituitary growth mechanism never got into gear.

The giant is a chap whose pituitary growth mechanism either took off in high or forgot to stop when it should have stopped.

The fat lady got more than her share of the mechanism that forms blubber and the human skeleton got none at all.

Now that you have some idea of what can happen when the pituitary gets out of whack, consider its miraculous normal efficiency, as it takes over during pregnancy, for example:

AS SOON AS the ripe egg is fertilized, it stops the discharge of other ripe eggs and interrupts the normal menstrual cycle.

Simultaneously, it promotes the growth of the womb to accommodate the new tenant, starts construction of the placenta (after-birth) to join the blood streams of mother and child, stimulates the mother's breasts in preparation for milk secretion and often causes an increase in the skin pigmentation, especially of the face.

Later, when the time for delivery occurs, it initiates labor pains that start the newcomer on its voyage through the birth canal and arranges for the mother's blood to clot more rapidly as a means for preserving her strength.

And all the while it continues to carry out its many duties that are unrelated to pregnancy.

The circus freaks represent pituitary errors. The rest of us at test to pituitary deficiency. Not a bad score for a living structure no larger than a good-sized raisin!
